

Cuban president calls on the Cuban people to work together

The First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Cuba and President of the Republic, Miguel Díaz-Canel, called on the people to work together to get out of the situation the country is going through.

The president affirmed: "we have to get out of this situation, working together," he said during an exchange with residents of the municipality of Songo-La Maya in this province, where he arrived from Guantanamo, giving continuity to the visits made by the leadership of the Revolution to the localities.

In Songo-La Maya, located 30 km northeast of this city, the president visited the San Benito-La Minerva Productive Pole, one of the new agricultural areas where the people of Santiago are working in response to the strategy aimed at guaranteeing food sovereignty.

As part of the tour, Díaz-Canel arrived at the Twisted Tobacco Collection and Processing Company, a provincial leader in the production of this product for national consumption, where he exchanged with workers and inquired about production levels, working conditions and the financial status of the company.
