

Nicolás Guillén

To your health, Guevara!
Or better still, from the very depths of the Americas: Wait for us!
We will depart with you.
We want to die so as to live as you have died;
and live as you live on.
Che: Commander and friend.

That was the beautiful final stanza of a poem written by the National Poet.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Fidel Castro', enclosed within a large, sweeping, stylized flourish that extends from the left and curves around the signature.
